Christus vincit, Christus regnat, Christus imperat!

If there ever was a Pontiff with a prophetic voice, that was Pius XI. He could see the dark clouds of the future, he could see that secularism was about to wage the most terrible wars against the Church. In Russia, the Atheistic regime threatened the very soul of civilization. In faraway Mexico, the desperation of persecuted Catholics was on the eve of worse trials. Throughout Europe, a virulent anti-Catholicism was ready to prepare terrible battles, including the greatest and most brutal mass persecution of Catholics recorded in modern times, in Spain (1931-1939). And inside the Church, the enemy within was about to show its head.

So many seemingly indestructible thrones had fallen! Was there any throne which would stand up? Was any institution able to withstand the mighty winds of change and decay?

With Quas Primas (Dec 11, 1925) Pius raised his voice: Yes, there is! There is a Throne which shall never fall, there is a King who shall reign forever, there is an Empire which brings peace, not war; justice, not confusion; eternal beatitude, not ephemeral ecstasy. This King is Christ.

It was surely right ... that the Catholic Church, which is the kingdom of Christ on earth, destined to be spread among all men and all nations, should with every token of veneration salute her Author and Founder in her annual liturgy as King and Lord, and as

King of kings. ... His Lordship over us and over all Creation is threefold. He is a Law-Giver, to Whom obedience is due; His kingdom is spiritual, not of this world and men can enter it only by penance, and cannot actually enter except by faith and by baptism, which signifies and produces an interior regeneration; His kingdom is sacerdotal, for Christ as our Redeemer purchased the Church at the price of His own Blood; as Priest He offered Himself, and continues to offer Himself as a victim for our sins.

It is a grave error, on the other hand, to say that Christ has no authority whatever in civil affairs, since, by virtue of the absolute empire over all creatures committed to Him by the Father, all things are in His power and He embraces all men. There is no difference in this matter between the individual and the family or the State; for all men, whether collectively or individually, are under the dominion of Christ. In Him is the salvation of the individual, in Him is the salvation of society.

Crown Him with many crowns, the Lamb upon His throne,
Hark, how the heavenly anthem drowns all music but its own;
Awake, my soul, and sing of Him Who died for thee,
And hail Him as thy matchless King through all eternity.

Crown Him the Lord of heav'n, enthroned in worlds above;
Crown Him the King, to Whom is giv'n the wondrous Name of Love!
Crown Him with many crowns, as thrones before Him fall,
Crown Him, ye kings, with many crowns, for He is King of all!

It is absolutely true, thus, that once men recognize, both in private and in public life, that Christ is King, society will at last receive the great blessings of real liberty, well-ordered discipline, peace and harmony.

The call of Pope Pius for the glorification of the Lord as Christ the King was heeded throughout the Catholic world. How many martyrs of the bloody 20th century died with the words "Vivat Christus Rex" on their lips? How many Christians gained eternal happiness by listening to Pope Pius? Oh, blessed encyclical who called so many men to the everlasting Kingdom above!

Christus vincit, Christus regnat,
Christus imperat! Amen.
