Announcements

- Our Place is in the Church! Please allow our conference room / library to be used by mothers with small children during Mass. Others should assist at Sunday Mass in the church. Even our vestibule should be unoccupied during Mass when there is room in the church-proper.
Only mothers with infants will be allowed in the Conference Room during Mass on Sundays.
- Safety first! Parents should please supervise their children. Small children especially should not be allowed outside without some responsible person to care for them. This is definitely a safety issue!
- 2020 Catholic calendars are available in our bookstore for an offering of $7.00. The bookstore also has some prayer books in Spanish.
- You did it to Me ~ The upcoming Thanksgiving holidays provide the opportunity for us to embrace our brethren and to strengthen the fraternal spirit among us. Let's be sure that those especially who live alone are amply accommodated to share a few hours of our family happiness.
- Queen of All Saints Pilgrimage ~ fliers with details are available in the vestibule.

O sweetest Jesus, bring me home to Thee;
Free me, O dearest God, from all but Thee,
And all the chains that keep me back from Thee;
Call me, O thrilling Love, I follow Thee:
Thou art my All, and I love nought but Thee.

One day a companion of St Stanislaus said to him, "You seem to love Our Lady very much." The holy youth replied with a heavenly smile, "Ah yes, she is my Mother! The Mother of God is also my mother!"

Mater Dei est mater mea.

Before retiring, he always prostrated with his face turned to St Mary Major and recited three Hail Marys as a mark of his love for her.

Saint Teresa of Avila and a Holy Soul

St. Teresa tells us that Don Bernardino di Mendoza gave her a house, garden and vineyard, which he owned in Valladolid, that she might establish there a convent in honor of the holy Mother of God. Two months after this, before the foundation was effected, he was suddenly taken ill and lost the power speech, so he could not make a confession, though he gave many signs of contrition. "He died," says St. Teresa, "far from the place where I then was. But Our Lord spoke to me, and told me he was saved, though he had run a great risk, for that he had mercy on him because of the gift he had given for the convent of His Blessed Mother, but that his soul would not be freed from Purgatory until the first Mass was said in the new house. I felt so deeply the pains this soul was suffering that although I was very desirous of accomplishing the foundation of Toledo, I left it at once for Valladolid. Praying one day at Medina del Campo, Our Lord told me to make haste, for that soul was suffering grievously. On this I started at once, thought I was not well prepared for it, and arrived at Valladolid on St. Laurence's Day." She then goes on to relate that as the new building was very extensive and would take a considerable time before completion, she had a temporary chapel prepared for the accommodation of the Sisters whom she had brought with her. She deeply regretted her inability to build at once the permanent church, as she feared that until that was done Don Bernardino should be detained in Purgatory; but how great was her consolation when, as the first Mass was being offered in this chapel, she saw in an ecstasy the soul of her generous benefactor ascending into Heaven. Rejoicing at his happiness, she thanked Our Lord for the solicitude with which He has hastened to deliver him, and became from that time more devoted than ever to the souls in Purgatory, as she perceived the great interest taken in them by Our Lord.

"Making up Payments"

November should be the month for compensations. The debt of love which we neglected to pay to relatives and friends while they lived with us on earth we may now discharge, and with generous interest. For the tender sympathy, the loving smile, the kindly word, the helping hand which we once refused, we may now substitute the fervent ejaculatory prayer, attendance at Mass, the recitation of Rosary or the Stations of the Cross. To atone for the undue rigor of our treatment of many of the faithful departed, we may now gain and apply to them innumerable indulgences, partial and plenary. For those suffering souls who have the strongest claims on our affection or our justice we should, as far as it is in our power to do so, secure the offering up of the adorable and propitiatory Sacrifice of the Altar. It is always "a holy and wholesome thought to pray for the dead, that they may be loosed from their sins"; it is especially during the present month that Catholic charity yields prompt and generous response to the pleading cry that Purgatory is ever sending up to earth: "Have pity on me! Have pity on me, at least you, my friends; for the hand of the Lord hath touched me!"

Virgin Most Powerful

O Mary, my Mother, all power is thine,
Since thou art the Mother of God's Son, divine.
Whatever thou askest, thy Son must grant thee
For He said that children obedient must be.
Wilt thou ask Him, sweet Mother, one favor for me?
That love for thee, Mary, and for Him, consume me!
May my heart glow with love, may its one desire be
To labor for naught save to please Him and thee.
My own sweet Mother.

Ye souls of the faithful, who sleep in the Lord, but as yet are shut out from your final reward;
O! would I could lend you assistance to fly from your prison below to your palace on high!
To your palace on high.

All ye who would honor the Saints and their Head, remember, remember to pray for the dead!
And they, in return from their misery freed, to you will be friends in the hour of need.
In the hour of need.
