Hail! All hail, great
Queen of Heaven,
Hail! Sweet Notre Dame
de Lourde'
'Neath whose care
our weary exile
is from countless ills secured.
Happy angels
joy to own thee
O'er their choirs
exalted high:
Throned in blissful
light and beauty, Empress of the starry sky!

Our Lady of Lourdes, pray for us!

From the Encyclical of Pope Pius XII July 2, 1957:

Warning against Materialism on the Centenary of the Apparitions at Lourdes

Excerpts only. For the entirety visit http://www.vatican.va/content/pius-xii/en/encyclicals/documents/hf_p-xii_enc_02071957_le-pelerinage-de-lourdes.html

In a society which is barely conscious of the ills which assail it, which conceals its miseries and injustices beneath a prosperous, glittering, and trouble-free exterior, the Immaculate Virgin manifests herself to an innocent child. With a mother's compassion she looks upon this world redeemed by her Son's blood, where sin accomplishes so much ruin daily, and three times makes her urgent appeal: "Penance, penance, penance!" She even appeals for outward expressions: "Go kiss the earth in penance for sinners." To this gesture must be added a prayer: "Pray to God for sinners."

The world, which affords so many justifiable reasons for pride and hope, is undergoing a terrible temptation to materialism. It rages in a love of money which creates ever greater havoc as modern enterprises expand, and which, unfortunately, determines many of the decisions which weigh heavy on the life of the people. It finds expression in the cult of the body, in excessive desire for comforts, and in flight from all the austerities of life. It encourages scorn for human life, even for life which is destroyed before seeing the light of day.

This materialism is present in the unrestrained search for pleasure, which flaunts itself shamelessly and tries to seduce souls which are still pure. It shows itself in lack of interest in one's brother, in selfishness which crushes him, in justice which deprives him of his rights - in a word, in that concept of life which regulates everything exclusively in terms of material prosperity and earthly satisfactions.

The Virgin Mother has sent a cry of alarm.

As Our predecessors and We Ourselves have insistently stressed, the quest for social and political peace among men is, above all, a moral problem: no reform can bear fruit, no agreement can be lasting without a conversion and cleansing of heart.

Go to her, you who are crushed by material misery, defenseless against the hardships of life and the indifference of men. Go to her, you who are assailed by sorrows and moral trials. Go to her, beloved invalids and infirm, you who are sincerely welcomed and honored at Lourdes as the suffering members of our Lord. Go to her and receive peace of heart, strength for your daily duties, joy for the sacrifice you offer.

"Kindly come . . .," said the Virgin to Bernadette. This discreet invitation, which does not compel but is addressed to the heart and requests with delicacy a free and generous response, the Mother of God addresses again to her children. Christians will not remain deaf to this appeal; they will go to Mary. It is to each of them that We wish to say at the conclusion of this letter with St. Bernard: "Amid dangers, difficulties, and doubts, think of Mary, invoke Mary's aid.... If you follow her, you will not stray; if you entreat her, you will not lose hope; if you reflect upon her, you will not err; if she supports you, you will not fall; if she protects you, you will not fear; if she leads you, you will not grow weary; if she is propitious, you will reach your goal...."

For Lent:

- WHAT AM I GOING TO GIVE UP: Train yourself to say "no" in little things so you can say "NO" to bigger temptations. Remember Jesus embraced a life of self-denial, for you. Repay His love with your love. My resolve: _____
- WHAT AM I GOING TO DO: Regularly perform some good and holy action(s). Strengthen your daily union with Jesus. My resolve: _____
- HOW WILL I AMEND MY LIFE: Overcome a bad habit. My resolve: _____
